

TREATY OF PEACE BETWEEN ALLIES AND GERMANY IN EFFECT; RATIFICATIONS ARE FORMALLY EXCHANGED THIS AFTERNOON

Signing Takes Place in Clock Hall in Paris at 4:15 O'clock.

NO FRIENDLY GREETINGS

Whole Ceremony Is Marked by Extreme Coolness Toward the German Representatives by Premier Clemenceau and Others of Allied Delegates.

By Associated Press.
PARIS, Jan. 10.—The treaty of Versailles, making peace between Germany and the Allied powers, was put into effect at 4:15 o'clock this afternoon by the exchange of ratifications.

The entire ceremony, which took place in the Clock Hall at the French Foreign Ministry, was completed at 4:40 o'clock.

Previously Baron Kurt von Lersner, head of the German mission, signed the protocol of November 1 providing for the carrying out of the armistice terms. The signing of this document occurred in the office of the minister of foreign affairs.

Baron von Lersner and Herr von Simon, the other German representatives, were among the last of those to arrive at the foreign ministry for the day's ceremonies. They passed into the office shortly after Premier Clemenceau, who as usual was given an ovation as he stepped out of his car.

The delegates assembled in the private office of the minister where at a secret session the protocol was signed at 4:00 o'clock.

After the signing of the protocol, the delegates then filed into the famous Clock room where were held the preliminary sessions of the peace conference that fixed the terms of the treaty.

Baron von Lersner and Herr von Simon were the last to enter the room and the first to sign the minutes recording the exchange of ratification.

Peaceful relations between Germany and the greater number of the nations engaged in the war with her have been established by the treaty, taken in Paris today.

The peace treaty now goes into effect as between Germany and those powers that have finally ratified it, Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, Guatemala, Peru, Poland, Siam, Czechoslovakia and Uruguay.

The proceedings began without any ceremony. Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain following the delegates at the signing table. He was succeeded by Premier Clemenceau of France who on returning to his seat after signing stopped in front of the German representatives. They arose and bowed to him. He said a few words which were inaudible to the spectators and they passed on to his place without shaking hands.

This incident was watched with the most intense interest in a grand silence. It was noticed that Baron von Lersner made a movement as if to put out his hand but seemed to check himself as he saw Clemenceau kept his hand at his side.

would leave his quarters after the signing of the protocol. He is still confined to his room under care of his physician and will not leave until the hour to go to the French foreign office for the final ceremony in the making of peace.

After the exchange of ratifications Premier Clemenceau handed von Lersner the following letter:

"Paris, Jan. 10. Now that the protocol provided for by the note of November 2 has been signed by qualified representatives of the German government and in consequence the ratifications of the treaty of Versailles have been deposited the Allied and associated powers wish to renew to the German government their assurance that while necessary reparations for the sinking of the German fleet in Scapa Flow will be exacted they do not intend to injure the vital economic interests of Germany. On this point, by this letter, they confirm the declaration which the German secretary of the peace conference was charged with making orally to the president of the German delegation on December 23."

LEAGUE TO COME INTO BEING ON JANUARY 16
PARIS, Jan. 10.—The putting of the League of Nations into being, which will be one of the immediate consequences of the exchange of the ratifications of the treaty of Versailles, will occur in Paris at 10:30 o'clock in the morning of Friday, January 16.

Ambassador Wallace called this decision of the council to President Wilson so that the President might issue the formal notice of the meeting of the council of the league to be held on the date named.

IMMEDIATE CALL FOR MEETING OF LEAGUE IS EXPECTED
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—President Wilson is expected to sign the call for the first meeting of the League of Nations council immediately after receiving notice from Ambassador Wallace that the first session has been fixed for next Friday.

The United States will not be represented at the meeting as the treaty has not yet been ratified by the Senate.

Provision for the President to issue the call for the initial meeting of the council is made in the peace treaty and officials explained that in signing the call Mr. Wilson would not be acting in his capacity as President of the United States.

The coming into force of the treaty through exchange of ratification will not affect the United States officials said.

While technically the state of war between this country and Germany still exists trade between the countries was resumed some months ago and is steadily increasing, particularly the export movement from the United States. The United States will not be represented on any of the various commissions set up by the treaty for carrying out its terms nor can this country send consular agents into Germany until the state of war is ended.

PITTSBURG'S MEN TEACHERS DEMAND $500 MORE SALARY

Strike Is Threatened If Board of Education Fails to Meet Tonight; No Funds, Say Directors, By Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 10.—The School Men's League, composed of the 500 men teachers in the Pittsburgh public schools, in a meeting here today asked the board of education to increase the salary of every teacher in the public schools $500 a year, and adopted a resolution pledging its support to the league officers in whatever action they might take to enforce the demand.

The movement for higher salaries began some time ago and was met by an statement of board members that the board did not have any money for that purpose nor could it legally get any. This was answered by the announcement that a mass meeting of all teachers would be held tonight, but the school men's league anticipated that meeting by placing the plans in concrete plans today.

The action of the league in pledging its support to the officers was taken in some quarters to mean that teachers would strike.

"Make $50 a Week For Simply Looking Nice," Says Irene Bennett.

By Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Low salaries are driving school teachers to the pink tights and bare legs of the chorus. William T. McCoy, chairman of a teachers' committee seeking increased pay envelopes, declared today.

"Interesting, if true," commented Superintendent Mortenson of the Chicago schools.

This made it necessary to grab the old lantern and staff and go forth in search of the truth.

Exhibit A—in the front row of a glittering spectacle advertised as a "national institution," a supple-kneed young woman named Irene Bennett, who used to teach school at Uniontown, Pa. She proved it by dragging a certificate out of her trunk.

"But never again," she averred. "Why I make $50 a week for simply looking nice. Maybe I don't earn it, but I get it. And that is reverse logic on the school teacher's problem. She earns four times what she gets."

Exhibit B—in a burlesque show that is "packing 'em in" here this week are three former school teachers, who still shake a wicked spear. They introduced enough names, places and miscellaneous data to prove their former occupation before any 12 good men and true.

"The very idea, Darwin, you don't look as stupid as you are. With 40 weeks solid and $35 every Saturday night why I simply could not afford it. I'd somebody else worry about Willie's dirty neck and who was the man who discovered the equator?"

Five more were discovered dancing and singing in Chicago hotels and cabarets without any trouble at all.

"I'd like to teach," said one, "but I need more money. If they won't pay me for what I know and would rather pay me three times as much for singing four songs every night, why I'm agreeable."

County Superintendent John S. Carroll of the Fayette county schools said today he knew of no Irene Bennett, who taught in Uniontown. He said he did not know of any former county teacher by that name.

"PRINCESS" PLEASES
 Capacity House at Soloson Delighted With Musical Production.

A capacity house at the Soloson theatre last evening was highly pleased with "The Flaming Princess." Numerous features combined to make the show a delightful one. Harry Bulger as Sport Bangs ranked with the best of comedians who have been here. He was funny all the way. Lilian Goldsmith as Drusilla Beck and Joseph Herbert, Jr., as Jack Stuart were fully equal to the parts assigned them. Especially entertaining were their dancing numbers. Katie Rooney as Armande Bangs made a hit, and so did Sherman Wade as Uncle Dudley. Everybody enjoyed Lark Langley's whistling and imitations. Marjorie Sweet made a delightful princess. In fact, there was little fault to be found with any part of the production. The music was catchy and well rendered. Costumes were new and elaborate and the lighting effects most pleasing.

The closing number of the performance was marred by the rush on part of the audience to get out before the curtain fell and many who wished to witness the finale were unable to do so.

The next musical attraction will be "A Honolulu Honeymoon," Thursday, January 15, afternoon and night.

CHILDREN CREMATED

No Trace Found of Them After Home at Brownsville Is Destroyed.

John Wilbur Coldren, three years old, and Martha Ann Coldren, 18 months old, children of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Coldren of Beacon Hill, near Brownsville, were burned to death and their bodies cremated in a fire, Friday afternoon, in the Coldren home. The children were alone in the house when the fire started and how it originated is not known. The flames made such a headway when the children discovered it that rescuers were unable to enter the building. Mrs. Coldren was downtown assisting her husband in the jewelry store and when she returned home the rear of the house was in flames. The opinion of the physicians is that the bodies of the two children were reduced to ashes. The Coldren residence, a four-room bungalow, is outside the fire zone and no fighting facilities were available. The house was burned to the ground, the loss being estimated to be between $2,500 and $3,000.

HOW MANY HAVE NORMAL VISION?

You notice that we ask that question frequently, and no question could be of more importance to the public. Only one or two in ten see as they should, and all the others are in need of the services of an Optometrist. Some of them may realize it, probably most of them do not. But whether they do or not, their proper action is to visit an Optometrist as soon as they can. A strictly modern, accurate service awaits you here.

BANNERS FOR COUNTIES MAKING BEST RECORDS IN HEALTH CRUSADE

Campaign Will Be in Schools of State and Under Direction of Tuberculosis Prevention Society.

Four banners will be awarded to the four counties in Pennsylvania making the best record in the "Vocera (Health Crusade)" during the first half of the school year of 1919-1920. This announcement was made by the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis under whose auspices the crusade is conducted in Pennsylvania. There are several hundred thousand school children in the state enrolled in the crusade. This is a system of health education at the school level, and the interest of the child by having the boy and girl practice simple health rules daily.

For the purposes of the contest the counties have been divided into four divisions. Those having a population up to 50,000 are in the first class; those from 50,000 to 100,000 are in the second; the ones from 100,000 to 200,000 are in the third and those above 200,000 are in the fourth. Fayette county is in the third class, Westmoreland in the fourth and Somerset in the second.

Records made by children in every one of school, including public, archdiocesan and private, cover a period from the opening of school work after Christmas up to June 15, 1920. The awards will be made July 15.

ORGAN WAS ONCE UNDER BAN

Scottish Presbyterian, Less Than a Century Ago, Declared its Playing Contrary to Law.

The organ, as an addition to the musical service in the Presbyterian church, was under a ban less than a hundred years ago, according to a writer in the Massachusetts Gazette, recalling the first organ made by James Watt. It was a small chamber organ, in form like a harmonium, which he built for his own use. When he moved to Birmingham the organ was left behind and came into the possession of the minister and session of St. Andrew's church, Glasgow, of which Watt had been a member. The instrument was used for weekly choir practices, but was shrouded under a green baize cover on Sundays, as though in disgrace. In 1803 permission to use it was refused by the city council. Then one Sunday afternoon, by pre-arrangement, the church attempted to use the organ without the council's consent. An organist from a neighboring Episcopalian church was called in. He played the organ while the last psalm was sung. There was so much excitement over the affair that a bitter controversy followed. The presbytery declared it was contrary to law and the constitution of the established church and it was prohibited in all churches and chapels within their bounds. Sixty years later St. Andrew's church got its first organ peacefully.

NEW SERIES WAR SAVINGS STAMPS AND CERTIFICATES

Already on Sale at the Same Prices as for Earlier Issues; Certificates of 1919 Convertible.

In view of the increased demand during the past few months for War Savings Stamps and Certificates, and particularly for the $100 and $1,000 certificates issued by the Treasury Department, it is expected that there will be a very large demand for the 1920 series.

The new issue for 1920 includes the $100 and $1,000 War Savings Stamp and the $100 and $1,000 Treasury Savings Certificate. The price will be the same as heretofore; the $100 stamp at $0.25; the $1,000 stamp at $2.50. The $100 certificate will be sold at $2.40 in January and increasing at the rate of $0.20 a month up to and including December next; the $1,000 certificate will be offered at $24.00 in January and the price will increase at the rate of $2.00 per month up to and including December.

In 1920 War Savings Stamps will be carried in color, will bear the head of George Washington and in size will approximate the stamp used in 1918. Provision has also been made by the Treasury Department for the redemption on demand of the $100 and $1,000 Treasury Savings Certificates by the Treasury Department Certificates, however, are not redeemable until the beginning of the second calendar month after the month of purchase. The regulation covering the redemption of $100 and $1,000 War Savings Certificates applies to the Treasury Department only; postoffices not having the power to redeem any War Savings Stamps or certificates except in accordance with the provision of 10 days' notice.

Provision is also made for an issue early in January next of 1918 War Savings certificates. These certificates, under the rules, cannot be offered for sale, as certificates of any year can only be sold during the year in which they are offered. They will be issued by the Treasury Department in order to enable holders of 1918 War Savings Stamps to convert same into the new form of Treasury Savings certificates. They will bear the same rights of redemption as the 1920 certificates. The 1918 Treasury Savings certificates will also be offered to those who desire to convert 1918 War Savings Stamps into this form of security. Provision is also made permitting the owner of War Savings Stamps to convert same into the Treasury Savings certificates in the name of anyone whom the owner may indicate. This is another advantage of the Treasury Savings Certificate to be issued during 1920 covering the years 1918, 1919 and 1920.

The exchange of stamps for certificates in the denomination of $100 may be made at first and second class postoffices, or through post offices especially designated by the postmaster general and the $100 and $1,000 certificates may be secured in exchange in like manner from the Federal Reserve bank and at the Division of Loans and Currency of the Treasury, but not at banks and trust companies generally.

URGES PEOPLE TO FIGHT CATARRH WITH SIMPLE HOME MADE REMEDY

Can Make Pint at Home and Costs Little, Says Leading Druggist of Covington, Ky., Who Has Made
Special Study of Catarrh.

Says: Inflamed Nostrils Invite Influenza

People who say that catarrh is a disease not to be taken seriously are harshly rebuked by a Kentucky druggist who has for years been much interested in the growth of this loathsome, yet altogether too common disease. He claims that the sore, tender, inflamed membrane of the nostrils and throat is a prolific breeding ground for germs—not only the germs of influenza, but many other kinds as well. If people would only stop experimenting for two weeks and try a simple remedy made of Mentholized Arcline mixed with enough boiled water to make a full pint, half of the catarrh in this country would be abolished. It's really no joke for people who don't know about this simple recipe to be constantly sniffing and snuffing, blowing and hawking, when all these obnoxious symptoms as well as the foul discharge can be made to disappear in a few days. Ask for three-quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Arcline—that's all you need and after you have mixed it with enough boiled water to make a pint, gargle the throat twice daily and sniff or spray some up the nostrils, as directed. The tender nostrils will soon lose their soreness, heal up, and be clean and healthy. Important Reminder: Just as soon as anyone in the family gets a cold in the head, check it at once with this same medicine. It's really no joke for people

BRADDOCK HIGH DEFEATS C. H. S. IN GAME HERE

Each Team Scores 13 Field Goals, But Braddock Gets Edge in Shooting Fouls.

LOCAL PROSPECTS GOOD

Fans Believe Connellsville Has Material Good Enough to Compete With Any In League; High School Goes to McClellandtown Tonight for Game.

In spite of the fact that they lost to the Braddock High school at the opening game of the W. P. I. A. League here last night the Connellsville High basketball team showed they would be strong contenders for honors in the league. The game ended with a score of 40-33 for Braddock. Connellsville fans, however, are firm in the belief that Connellsville has a team the equal of the visitors.

Each team made 13 field goals. At the opening of the game Connellsville set a hard pace and for a time it looked as though Braddock would be "cleaned out." The locals ran up a lead which the visitors only overcame by supremacy in shooting fouls. E. Wilson, of that quarter, successfully caged 14 out of 17 attempts. Captain Bufano of the local squad scored six field goals in the game. Zukowicz and E. Wilson of the visitors were highest in field tactics, getting four and five respectively.

Connellsville goes to McClellandtown tonight where the German Township high team will be played. Reports are that the township visitors are fast. They are not members of the W. P. I. A. League and this game does not count in the league standing.

Last night's score follows: Connellsville, Braddock. Bufano 6, E. Wilson 5, Zukowicz 4, R. McMillan 3, Jones 3, Menefee 2, Dahner, Mountain, Koudracki.

Field goals: Bufano 8, E. Wilson 6, Zukowicz 4, R. McMillan 3, Jones 3, Menefee 2, Dahner, Mountain, Koudracki. Total goals: E. Wilson, 14 out of 17; Bufano, 7 out of 11. Referee—Matos.

Sport Squips. Resuming the season on next Tuesday night at the high school, with the strong Latrobe Scholastics as the attraction, the Maccabees basketball team plans to continue a schedule throughout the remainder of the season, bringing into the city some of the best organizations in this part of the state.

The Latrobe quintet has a strong line-up and according to all reports has been cutting quite a "figure" in the basketball world this season. The Maccabees, in playing teams of such status are giving sport fans of the city the best that can be secured and every fan gets his full value when he witnesses one of these games.

This afternoon the high school girls varsity goes up against the Rockwood high school feminine aggregation. The contest gives indications of being interesting from every viewpoint. A preliminary between two boy classes teams will be played. The big game is called for 3 o'clock.

The University of Pittsburgh basketball team has a heavy schedule this week. The first of a series of games with the West Virginia University will be played on Thursday at Trees Gymnasium. The Mountaineers have a victory over Yale to their credit, while Pitt lost to the Bull dogs by one point. A return game will be played at Morgantown on January 31.

Someone has said baseball is a thing of the past in Connellsville because the city has so often failed to support a team. Those who would promote this game are inclined to be discouraged. An old adage of "try, try again," seems to have slipped their minds. Fans should get back of any endeavor made to place the city in realm of baseball this summer. First class material for a team is available.

The pool tournament seems to have fallen through. Lack of interest on the part of the players was the cause however, not because there wasn't sufficient inducement, because Tony Redding looked after that.

The "sports man" of The Courier offers all basketball managers or heads of other sports, the use of this page to bring their aggregations into the limelight. Sport dope should be sent in early, however, together with all interesting details.

A meeting of the Unity Fraternity basketball team will be held next week at which a captain will be elected. New uniforms—in fraternity colors—have been ordered and the team promises to "stagger" the fans on its next appearance on the floor.

The members of the Maccabee team are asked not to forget the meeting to be held at the Maccabee hall tonight at 7:30 o'clock. It has been called by Captain Hunsberger for a short discussion of next Tuesday's game. As it is of special importance every candidate is urged to be present. The meeting will be of short duration.

If any pool playing organization is perfected in the city, the Wilson brothers will be represented by a Wilson team composed of the three Wilson brothers: Jimmie, Newt and Bob. The trio make a good playing combination and should put up a stiff fight for any honors.

D. T. H. S. EASILY WINS OVER LEISNERING A. A. IN FIRST GAME, 37-12

School Quintet Develops Fast Organization; Practically Has a Walkaway.

Dunbar township high school walked away with the Leisenring A. A. at the high school here last night, 37-12. The high school showed some fine floor playing and also an ability to shoot.

Hensel and Bradley, forwards on the school five, were always in the melee and gave good accounts of themselves. Pritchard also proved himself to be a worthy man. In the second half of the game the A. A. were held to one goal. They were unable to get a chance at a basket until 10 minutes after the game had opened.

The score: D. T. H. S. L. A. A. Hensel 10, Pritchard 8, Bradley 5, Arnold 3, Kelly 2, Rafter 1, Scofield 1. Field goals—Pritchard 9, Hensel 6, Kelly 2, Rafter, Pritchard, Scofield 1. Foul goals—W. Pritchard, 4 out of 12; Bradley, 3 out of 7; Hensel, 2 out of 5.

MOUNT PLEASANT WINS

Superiors Have Small Lead Over Jeannette on Former's Floor.

The Mount Pleasant Superior basketball team won over the Jeannette Scholastics in a close game at Mount Pleasant last night, 29-21. The game at the end of the first half was in favor of the visitors by one point. McKinney's foul shooting for the home team was a feature, and Brown also played a bang-up game. The lineup: MT. PLEASANT. JEANNETTE. McKinney 10, Knappenberger 8, Brown 7, Clippinger 5, Kayser 3. Field goals—Kinney, Bobbs 4, Brown 4, Kayser, Bowers 3, Knappenberger, Hall 2, Kinney.

MORE IMPROVEMENT IN COKE SUPPLY IS NEED OF CONSUMERS

Tie-Up of Cars in the Coal Traffic Is Preventing Free Movement.

BY-PRODUCT IS BETTER

Coal Supply to Ovens Having Been Increased; Some Offering in the Market at Small Concessions from Government Price Limits; No Contracting.

Special to The Weekly Courier. PITTSBURGH, Jan. 7.—The situation as to coke supplies is improved but there will have to be much further improvement before consumers are put in anything like a comfortable position.

Coal supplies in the Connellsville region are reported to be better than elsewhere last night, but not much better. The trade's study of the situation indicates that there is a large quantity of coke in transit, some of it having been on the way for three or four weeks, and it is the large number of cars tied up in this manner that makes the coke supply so scant. Apart from this there is the condition recognized by the trade for some time, that many cars that went west loaded with coke have not gotten back and their regular service as yet. There is a reason for some of them not returning, the reason being that they were not unloaded, while the reason they are not unloaded is that the consignees regard the percentage of coal in them too low and the percentage of mud, slate, etc., altogether too high. Some of the non-union coal producers funding through the strike appear to have thought that almost anything would be accepted and paid for during the scarcity.

The partial relief from the coke shortage is due in a measure to increased output of by-product coke as the coal supplies to by-product ovens have been increasing. Shipments are still far below normal, however, there being a car shortage everywhere. Occasional lots of coke are now appearing in the market as regular offerings, and in a few instances the operators are willing to make a slight concession from the government price limits in order to give brokers a margin, as the brokers are not allowed to charge consumers more than the three limits. The fact that there is any coke at all thus offered in the market is regarded as a very hopeful sign. The market remains quotable at government limits as follows:

Furnaces.....$5.00 Foundry.....7.00. Negotiations on contracts are practically suspended although there is much unsold coke and much uncovered consumption for the present year, the contracting movement that was interrupted by the coal and coke scarcity having involved 50 to 65 per cent. of the total amount of business to be done. Furnacesmen are not altogether as keen as they were to get under cover as it is the expectation in some quarters that coke conditions will be much easier in a short time, perhaps in a few weeks, perhaps after a couple months. Occasionally an operator names a price which he would be willing to accept on contract, the price being much above the government limit, so that the transaction could not be made while government regulation is in effect, without breaking the law while incidentally the contract would not be enforceable as it would not hold in court.

There are rumors going about that the government price regulation will be removed in a very short time, say within two or three weeks, but no denial authority is assigned for such statements. Opinions differ as to which way prices would move if the control were removed, though of course if the control were removed now prices would advance. If control of both coke and coal prices were removed it is thought that by-product coke operators would bid up the coal market.

The pig iron market has been quiet as regards transactions for forward delivery, while on the other hand the pressure for prompt deliveries has increased, resulting in premiums being paid for the delivery. Prompt foundry has sold at $10, Valley, or $2 above the recognized market for late delivery, while Bessemer and basic has been sold at $1 above their established levels for late deliveries, the market thus being quotable as follows:

Bessemer.....$10.00 @ $12.00 Basic.....25.00 @ 35.00 Foundry.....35.00 @ 40.00. These prices are f. o. b. Valley, net, freight to Pittsburgh being $1.75. Average prices in December as computed by W. F. Snyder & Company from the actual sales reported of Valley iron in lots of 1,000 tons or more are $35.434 for Bessemer and $34.812 for basic, against November averages of $33.20 for Bessemer and $36.16 for basic.

How to Buy McKeesport Gas Stock

It is impossible to say, at the present time, whether the territory for miles around McKeesport is good Gas Territory. It may be—and it may not. The only certain way to buy Gas Stock—is to buy in "proven territory." Buy in a proposition where the leases lie close to new producers. In this new producing territory in McKeesport Gas Belt there hasn't been a dry hole drilled; every well is a producer. Let the other fellow risk his dollars in developing unproven territory. With stock available in a company with leases right in the heart of the producers it would be sheer folly to go into a "wild cat."

Here Are the Independent Locations

They need no explanation. You can see with your own eyes that they are but yards from the wells now producing, from 2 million to 40 million cubic feet daily.

Such a proposition as this is not gamble.

$100 BUYS Equal Share in all Three Wells

One hundred dollars will not break any man. Yet here is YOUR chance to make thousands out of it. It is not fiction—but fact—that over $200,000 monthly dividends are being paid monthly from the approximately 20 wells now producing. The Foster Gusher pays $3,100 monthly on $150 shares. Others are paying from the hundreds to the thousands—monthly.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

"TARZAN OF THE APES"
"SON OF TARZAN"

Above him an opening in the ceiling at the upper end of a flight of concrete steps revealed a brilliant sunlight. Tarzan viewed the vine-covered columns in a daze of wonder. There was a tantalizing suggestion always present in his mind that something was eluding him—that he should know many things which he did not know.

His earnest contemplation was rudely interrupted by a thunderous roar from the opening above him. Following the roar came the "clash and scum" of men and women. Tarzan grasped his spear more firmly and ascended the steps. A strange sight met his eyes as he emerged from the semidarkness of the cellar to the brilliant light of the temple.

The creatures he saw before him he recognized for what they were—men and women, and a huge lion. The men and women were searching for the safety of the exits. The lion stood upon the body of one who had been less fortunate than the others. He was in the center of the temple. Directly before Tarzan, a woman stood beside a block of stone. Upon the top of the stone lay stretched a man, and as the woman watched the scene, he saw the lion glare terribly at the two who remained within the temple. Another thunderous roar broke from the "avage throat," the woman screamed and swooned across the body of the man stretched prostrate upon the stone altar before her.

Werper, helpless upon the altar, saw the great creature rushing to leap upon him. He saw the sudden change in the lion's expression as his eyes wandered to something beyond the altar and out of the Belgian's view. He saw the formidable creature rise to a standing position. A figure darted past Werper. He saw a mighty arm upraised, and a stout spear shot forward toward the lion to bury itself in the broad chest.

He saw the lion snarling and tearing the weapon's shaft, and he saw, wonder of wonders! the naked giant who had buried the missile charging upon the great beast, only a long knife ready to meet those ferocious fangs and talons.

By a quick side step, Tarzan eluded the first swinging clutch of the lion's jaws. Darting to the lion's side, he capped upon the tawny back. His teeth sank deep into the brute's flesh, scolding, leaping, rolling and struggling, the giant attempted to dislodge this savage enemy, and all the while one great brown fist was driving a long keen blade repeatedly into the lion's side.

During the battle, La regained consciousness. Spellbound, she stood above her victim watching the spectacle. At last Tarzan's knife found the great heart, and with a final, spasmodic struggle the lion fell off upon the marble floor, dead. Leaping, on his feet the conqueror placed a foot upon the carcass of his kill, raised his face toward the heavens and gave voice to a hideous cry that both La and Werper trembled as it reverberated through the temple.

Then the ape-man turned, and Werper recognized him as the lion's slayer. Werper was astounded. Could this creature be the same degraded Englishman who had entertained him so graciously in his luxurious African home? Could this wild beast, with blazing eyes, and bloody countenance, be at the same time a man? Could the horrible victory cry he had just heard have been formed in human throat?

La was studying the ape-man's features. Slowly her large eyes opened wide. "Tarzan!" she exclaimed, and then, in the vernacular of the great apes which constant association with the anthropoids had rendered the common language of the Oparians: "You have come back to me! La has ignored the mandates of her religion, waiting always waiting for Tarzan, for her Tarzan. She has taken no mate, for in all the world there was but one with whom La would mate. And now you have come back! Tell me, O Tarzan, that it is for me you have returned."

Werper listened to the unintelligible jargon. He looked from La to Tarzan. Would the latter understand this strange tongue? To the Belgian's surprise, the Englishman answered in a language evidently identical to hers. "Tarzan," he repeated, musingly, "Tarzan. The name sounds familiar." "It is your name—you are Tarzan," cried La.

"I am Tarzan?" The ape-man shrugged. "Well, it is a good name—I know go other, so I will keep it; but I do not know you. I did not come hither for you. Why I came, I do not know at all; neither do I know from whence I came. Can you tell me?" La shook her head. "I never knew," she replied.

Tarzan turned toward Werper and put the same question to him; but in the language of the great apes. The Belgian shook his head.

True identity, it might be possible to turn the ape-man's misfortune to his own advantage.

"I cannot tell you from whence you came," he said; "but this I can tell you—if we do not get out of this horrible place, we shall both be slain upon this bloody altar. The woman was about to plunge her knife into my heart when the lion interrupted the deadly ritual. Come! Let us find a way out of this damnable temple!"

Tarzan turned again toward La. "Why," he asked, "would you have killed this man? Are you hungry?" The high priestess cried out in disgust, raised her slender arm, and pointed toward the sun.

"We were offering up his soul as a gift to the Flaming God," she said. Tarzan looked puzzled. He was again an ape, and ape he did not understand such matters as souls and Flaming Gods.

"Do you wish to die?" he asked Werper. The Belgian assured him, with tears in his eyes, that he did not wish to die.

"Very well, then; you shall not," said Tarzan. "Come! We will go. This spear will kill you and keep me for myself. It is no place, anyway, for a Mahagani. I shall soon die, shut up behind these stone walls."

He turned toward La. "We are going now," he said. The woman rushed forward and seized the ape-man's hand in hers. "Do not leave me!" she cried. "Stay and you shall be high priest. La loves you. All Opar shall be yours. Stay, Tarzan of the Apes, and let love reward you."

The ape-man pushed the kneeling woman aside. "Tarzan does not desire you," he said, simply, and stepping to Werper's side he cut the Belgian's bonds and motioned him to follow.

Parting—her face convulsed with rage, La sprang to her feet. "Stay, you shall!" she screamed. "La will have you—if she cannot have you alive, she will have you dead," and raising her face to the sun she gave voice to the same hideous shriek that Werper had heard once before and Tarzan many times.

In answer to her cry a babel of voices broke from the surrounding chambers and corridors. "Come, guardian priests!" she cried. "The infidels have profaned the holiest of the holies. Come! Strike terror to their hearts; defend La and her altar; rush clean the temple with the blood of the polluters!"

Tarzan understood, though Werper did not. The former glanced at the Belgian and saw that he was unarmed. Stepping quickly to La's side the ape-man seized her in his strong arms and though she fought with all the might and savagery of a demon, he soon disarmed her, handing her long, sacrificial knife to Werper.

"You will need this," he said, and then from each doorway a horde of the monstrous, little men of Opar streamed into the temple.

They were armed with bludgeons and knives, and fortified in their courage by fanatic hate and frenzy. Werper was terrified. Tarzan stood eyeing the foe in proud disdain. Slowly he advanced toward the exit he had chosen to utilize in making his way from the temple. A burly priest parried his way. Behind the first was a score of others. Tarzan swung his heavy spear, dubbing down upon the skull of the priest. The fellow collapsed, his head crushed.

HAD BAD COUGH, NIGHT SWEATS AND ASTHMA

Got rid of it all and gained 12 pounds in 3 months.

Saw Him Circle, Stiff-Legged, About the Circling Ape.

legged about the circling ape. He heard the same bestial howls and growlings issue from the human throat that were coming from the mouth of the brute. Had his eyes been closed he could not have known but that two giant apes were bridling for combat.

But there was no battle. It ended as the majority of such jungle encounters—and one of the boaters lost his nerve and became suddenly interested in a blowing leaf, a beetle, or the lice upon his hairy forehead.

In this instance it was the anthropoid that retired in stiff dignity to inspect an unhappy caterpillar, which he presently devoured. For a moment Tarzan seemed inclined to pursue the argument. He swaggered triumphantly, struck out his chest, roared and advanced closer to the bull. It was with difficulty that Werper finally persuaded him to leave well enough alone and continue his way from the ancient city of the Sun Worshipers.

The two searched for nearly an hour before they found the narrow exit through the inner wall. From there the well-worn trail led them beyond the outer fortification to the desolate valley of Opar.

Tarzan had no idea, in so far as Werper could discover, as to where he was or whence he came. He wandered aimlessly about, searching for food, which he discovered beneath small rocks, or hiding in the shade of the scant brush which dotted the ground.

The Belgian was horrified by the hideous mien of his companion. Bees, rodents and caterpillars were devoured with seeming relish. Tarzan was indeed an ape again.

At last Werper succeeded in leading his companion toward the distant hills which mark the northwestern boundary of the valley, and together the two set out in the direction of the Graylock bungalow.

What purpose prompted the Belgian in leading the victim of his treachery and greed back toward his former home it is difficult to guess, unless it was that without Tarzan there could be no ransom for Tarzan's wife.

That night they camped in the valley beyond the hills, and as they sat before a little fire where cooked, a wild pig that had fallen to one of Tarzan's arrows, the latter sat lost in speculation. He seemed continually to be trying to grasp some mental image which as constantly eluded him.

At last he opened the leather pouch which hung at his side. From it he poured into the palm of his hand a quantity of glittering gems. The firelight playing upon them conjured a multitude of scintillating rays, and as the wide eyes of the Belgian looked on in rapt fascination, the man's expression at last acknowledged a tangible purpose in courting the society of the ape-man.

CHAPTER VII.
The Theft of the Jewels.
For two days Werper sought for the party that had accompanied him from the camp to the bare cliffs, but until late in the afternoon of the second day did he find clew to its whereabouts, and then in such gruesome form that he was totally unnerved by the sight.

In an open glade he came upon the bodies of three of the blacks, terribly mutilated, nor did it require considerable deductive power to explain their murder. Of the little party only three had not been slaves. The others, evidently tempted to hope for freedom from their cruel Arab master, had taken advantage of their separation from the main camp, to slay the three representatives of the hated power which held them in slavery, and vanish into the jungle.

HAD BAD COUGH, NIGHT SWEATS AND ASTHMA

Got rid of it all and gained 12 pounds in 3 months.

"I suffered with bronchial asthma and catarrh of the stomach and bowels. My throat would close up so I could hardly breathe. Coughed all day and coughed, too I could not lie down at night. There was much vomiting in my bronchial tubes it would keep my wife awake. I had night sweats so badly I would have to change night clothes three times a night."

"I commenced using Milks Emulsion a month ago, and I am now feeling fine. Have no night sweats, no bronchial asthma, no stomach trouble, and have gained 12 pounds."—A. J. Burroughs, 24 Florence St., Bradford, Pa.

Give Milks Emulsion a chance to relieve—perhaps to conquer—your asthma. It has quickly succeeded for others. It costs nothing to try. Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores health, builds up the system, doing away with all need of pills and physiotherapy. It promotes appetite and builds up the digestive organs. It is a powerful aid in resisting and repairing the effects of wasting diseases. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion under this guarantee: "Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money and $1.25 per bottle. ation with Werper as though nothing unusual had occurred. He had but exhibited the best of his jealous protective instinct for a possession. When he killed he shared the meat with Werper; but had Werper ever, by accident, laid a hand upon Tarzan's share he would have aroused the same savage and resentful warning.

From that occurrence dated the beginning of a great fear in the breast of the Belgian for his savage companion. He had never understood the transformation that had been wrought in Tarzan by the blow upon his head, other than to attribute it to a form of amnesia. That Tarzan had once been, in truth, a savage, jungle beast, Werper had not known, and so, of course, he could not guess that the man had reverted to the state in which his childhood and young manhood had been spent.

Now Werper saw in the Englishman a dangerous mania, whom the slightest untoward accident might turn upon him with rending fangs. His one hope lay in eluding him, and making for the far distant camp of Achmet Zek as rapidly as he could; but armed only with the sacrificial knife, Werper shrank from attempting the journey through the jungle. Tarzan constituted a protection that was by no means desirable, even in the face of the larger carnivores, as Werper had reason to acknowledge from the evidence he had witnessed in the Oparian temple.

Achmet Zek could know nothing of the jewels—these would be for Werper alone, and as soon as he could compass his design he would reach the coast and take passage for America, where he could conceal himself beneath the veil of a new identity and enjoy to some measure the fruits of his theft.

It was upon the third day of their progress from Opar that the keen ears of Tarzan caught the sound of men behind them. Werper heard nothing above the humming of the jungle insects and the chattering life of the lesser monkeys and the birds.

For a time Tarzan stood in statue-like silence, listening, his sensitive nostrils dilating as he assayed each passing breeze. Then he withdrew Werper into the concealment of thick brush and waited. Presently along the game trail that Werper and Tarzan had been following there came in sight a sleek black warrior, alert and watchful.

In single file behind him there followed, one after another, near fifty others, each burdened with two dull yellow lugos lashed upon his back. Werper recognized the party immediately as that which had accompanied Tarzan on his journey to Opar. He glanced at the apeman; but in the savage, watchful eyes he saw no recognition of Basul and those other loyal Waziri.

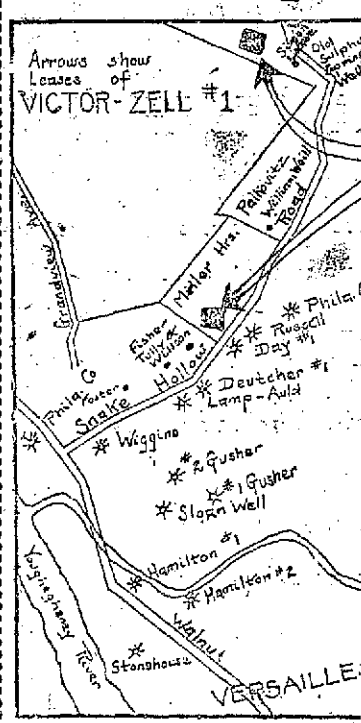

When all had passed Tarzan rose and emerged from concealment. He turned to Werper. "We will follow and slay them," he said. "Why?" asked the Belgian. "They are black," explained Tarzan. "It was a black who killed Kala. They are the enemies of the Mahagani."

AVERAGE PRICE FOR 1919'S COKE OUTPUT $4.70 NET TON

Highest in History of the Region Except During the Two Years Immediately Preceding; $2.25 Less Than Average of 1918, and $1.55 Less Than That of 1917.

From The Weekly Courier's Annual Review.
The Courier sets the average value of coke shipped from the Connellsville and Lower Connellsville districts in the year 1919 at $4.70 per net ton at ovens, this comparing with $7.25 for 1918, $6.25 for 1917 and $2.88 for 1916. Barring the two preceding years, it is the highest average price in the history of the region, the highest average prior to 1915 having been $3 which was also the average of 1914.

In some years a feature has been the wide variety of prices realized on different classes of transactions, while the feature of 1919 was the relatively small range governing the great bulk of the business. There were some wide variations, it is true, but the tonnage that went at extreme prices in either direction was altogether insignificant. There is an old saying that it makes a great deal of difference whose ox is gored, and the same observation is true of strikes, for the iron and steel strike produced the lowest spot price, $3.30 or lower, for a few days late in September, while the coal strike produced the highest spot price, about $12, in a few transactions early in December.

It is a coincidence that the year 1919 both opened and closed with "government" prices in force, $6 for furnace coke and $7 for foundry. The war time government limits were removed as of February 1, the trade learning of the prospective removal on Saturday, January 18. Early the next week the market became quotable at less than government limits. The decline can hardly be regarded as due to the government announcement, however, the better view being that the Fuel Administration decided to remove the price limit because there was no danger of the market advancing. Government price limits were re-established effective Monday, December 8, on account of the coal strike. Coal price limits had previously been established and the Fuel Administration did not want too much coal to be attracted into coke making.

Contracts Under Government Control.
Nearly all the furnace coke production and consumption had been placed under contract for all or part of 1919 before the armistice was signed. The contracts were necessarily at government prices for the period of government control but the matter of what price should obtain in case of removal of government control was variously handled. A few thought the market would go up, while many more thought the market would go down. The result was that a few contracts were made providing that, in the event of removal of control the "last government price" should obtain while a great many more were made providing that the price should be subject to monthly agreement between the parties. The "last government price" contracts were generally for the whole year 1919, while the majority of adjustment contracts were for the first half only. On most of the "last government price" contracts a concession was made in February whereby a price of $5 was agreed to with the understanding that further revision upward or downward could be made.

The monthly adjustment contracts were on a scale downward during the first half of the year, $6 being of course the price for January, while most of the May and June settlements were at $4. In February and March the market was falling at such a rate that some of the early adjustments did not stand, but were revised later.

For the second half of the year there were two classes of furnace coke contracts, one class being on a ratio basis and the other on a flat price basis. The ratio contracts were generally at 64 to one against basic pig iron at Valley furnaces, the price of pig iron in a month to control the price of coke shipped in the same month. At $25.75 for basic pig iron the price set by the March 21 reduction arranged under the auspices of Secretary Reelfield's Industrial Board, the coke would bring $4.12. The price held for four months of the second half of the year, but in November and December it advanced sharply, the average pig iron price for the half year being about $28, so that 64 to one contracts meant an average of about $4.48 for the coke.

The flat price contracts for the second half of the year were generally at from $4.25 to $4.60, contracts being made at both these prices, while one was at $4 for July and $4.40 for the remaining five months, and in another case a consumer bought at $4.25 for the third quarter and then renewed the contract at $4.50 for the fourth quarter.

Coal and Coke Profits.
The Connellsville coke made in 1919 represented a fair profit for the coke making process as compared with what would have been realized for the coal if sold in the market, but no abnormal profit. The coal could not have been sold at an average of more than $2.30 at the outside, which would mean less than $3.50 for the coal required to make a ton of coke, and with $4.70 as an average for the coke there was a margin for the coke making of

THE SOISSON.

"A HONOLULU HONEYMOON"—With its Hawaiian settings, its beautiful costumes, its remarkable scenic effects, its native dances, singers and instrumentalists and its host of pretty girls, will be presented Thursday afternoon and evening.

"A Honolulu Honeymoon" with its company of thirty-five artists, is this season's big musical success. It is a melange of smart dancing, weird, haunting, Hawaiian melodies, clean comedy and pretty girls. It has frequently been called a "Singsong show in a class by itself." The Hawaiian atmosphere which pervades the entire show, the real live natives playing ukuleles and steel strangled guitars, the dances of the flower dressed islands and the scenes from the land of enchantment, all serve to place "A Honolulu Honeymoon" in the front rank of musical comedy successes.

Melroy & Clark, who produce "A Honolulu Honeymoon," believe it is the best piece of stage craft they have conceived.

THE SOISSON.

"THE WEAKER SEX"—Starring Dorothy Dalton, the popular screen star, supported by Charles Ray and Louise Glaum, is being presented today.

A play of particular interest to women, "The Weaker Sex" is a description given to "The Weaker Sex" in which the three Triangle stars are presented in the leading roles. Miss Dalton has the part of a successful woman lawyer who, when she wins a verdict of acquittal for a girl charged with murder, wins also the admiration of the prosecuting attorney and later becomes his wife. After marriage the wife wants to help her husband in his work, but he insists her place is in the home. But when her stepson (Charles Ray) is in peril of his life, charged with the murder of an evil woman (Louise Glaum), she proves that her trained mind has a very definite value. The boy is acquitted through her handling of the evidence, and thereafter she has her coveted place at her husband's side.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"THE HEART OF JUANITA"—With Beatrice Michelena as the star, is today's feature attraction.

"If you ever forget you belong to me, I'll kill you and laugh!" Juanita, queen of Jim Brandt's dance hall, meant what she said and Jim Brandt knew it. Passionate and unbridled, "The Spitfire," as Juanita was called, gave all to the man she loved and demanded all. When the fifty-haired blonde from San Francisco stole Jim's affections away from her, she tried to carry out her threat—but the knife slipped.

Calvert, the young hermit trapper of the mountains, gave her refuge from the sheriff's posse who came to get her. What happened when Calvert, Brandt and the sheriff met in the little mountain cabin and fought it out with knives, and "The Spitfire" threw herself into the fight, brings to a thrilling climax a gripping story of the early California days when conventions were forgotten and morals primitive.

TRADES COUNCIL TO AID FIGHT ON REDS; ALSO PROFITEERING

Committee for Purpose Named at Last Meeting of Body; Reports Will Be Referred to Government.

Connellsville Trades & Labor Council at its meeting in Moose hall Thursday evening appointed a committee to act in conjunction with the government in its campaign against profiteering. The idea, it was explained, is not to go around hunting for profiteers here, but simply to accept reports on alleged cases of overcharge and take these up with the proper government officials.

The committee is composed of R. M. Vaughn, chairman; E. L. McNeel and S. Desmon.

Another committee was appointed to visit the various locals of the city, getting them together to help offset both Bolshevism and the other extremes, promoting harmony and aid in every way possible in quieting the present unrest. S. Desmon was named chairman of this committee.

Nomination of officers will take place at the next meeting, which will be held January 22.

FOX RANCHING GROWS

Five Thousand Pelts Product of Season on Prince Edward Island.

By Associated Press.

CHARLOTTETOWN, Prince Edward Island, Jan. 9.—Fox ranching on this island province is steadily growing and this season it is estimated that about 5,000 will be shipped from here.

The prices range from $1,000 each for silver fox skins down to $10 for the cheapest reds.

Ranchers are giving up the breeding of the cheaper grades of foxes as they cost just as much to feed as the others, and domesticated reds are now a rarity. A number of individual farmers in this province are starting small fox ranches.
